

I would oppose any change that would weaken our indiana no call list. If I want to do business with any firm or newspaper or money raising campaign I am certainly able to look up their address etc and contact them. I do not understand why my right to privacy should be eclipsed by their desire to make money. I wish our Indiana law would be made stronger to eliminate the lobbying groups from the right to call list. That would prevent my night time hours being ruined by the Indianapolis Star, the College Fund Raisers, and the charities.
